Nashville Health & Well-being Leadership Council

Driving COMMUNITY HEALTH IMPROVEMENT

Collaborates with communities to improve health and well-being in Nashville/Davidson County.

The NHWLC provides oversight for the community health improvement process in collaboration with Metro Public Health, Metro Social Services, Metro area hospitals, and the community. Every three years, a community health assessment is conducted to provide an understanding of the state of health in our community and the social factors contributing to and influencing health in our area. NHWLC uses a health in all policies (HiAP) approach because of the diversity of members.

EQUITY

1. Housing
2. Economic Opportunity & Job Skill Development
3. Food Access Food Insecurity
4. Awareness & Navigation of Community Resources

Strategic Issues

The Community Health Assessment informs the Nashville Community Health Improvement Plan (CHIP). The NHWLC plays a key role in driving changes identified through this community-driven process to create a healthier Nashville. The figure to the left highlights the Strategic issues outlined in the 2023-2025 CHIP.

Scan QR Code or Visit Link to

VIEW NHWLC RESOURCES & INFORMATION

https://www.nashville.gov/NashvilleHealthWellbeingLeadershipCouncil

NHWLC MEETINGS: Join us the third Tuesday, 1pm, monthly

Established by Executive Order 32 on January 17, 2024 by Mayor Freddie O'Connell. This Council is an update of the Healthy Nashville Leadership Council established in 2002 by Mayor Bill Purcell.