I. Introduction

Public Art Guidelines and a funding vehicle for public art projects are provided for in an ordinance signed into law by Mayor Bill Purcell on June 2, 2000. The Guidelines outline the policies the Metropolitan Nashville Arts Commission will follow to administer a public art program on behalf of the Metropolitan Government of Nashville and Davidson County. These Guidelines apply to public art acquired after the document's adoption.

A bill creating the public art ordinance was announced on March 24, 2000, by the Mayor and adopted on May 16, 2000, as BL2000-250 by the Metropolitan Council of Nashville and Davidson County. The ordinance dedicates one percent (1%) of the net proceeds of any general obligation bond issued for construction projects to fund public art. Construction project means the building or erection of any public building, structure, park, or parking facility and will also include the reconstruction, replacement, extension, repair, betterment or improvement of any public building, structure, park or parking facility where the cost of the improvement exceeds fifty percent (50%) of the value of the existing entity. In addition to a percent for art process, the ordinance expands the public art program to include the ability to receive donations of cash and/or tangible art to fund or place public art in Nashville.

Family and household members also are ineligible for public art commissions or projects over which the MNAC has approval authority or administrative responsibility.
- B. MNAC and PAC members.
 1. Members of the MNAC or its Public Art Committee are ineligible for public art commissions or projects during their tenure and for one year following their term of service. Family and household members also are ineligible for public art commissions or projects over which the MNAC has approval authority or administrative responsibility. These restrictions will extend indefinitely for any specific commission or projects that were reviewed or otherwise acted upon during membership on the MNAC or PAC.

2. Members of MNAC or PAC must declare any potential conflict of interest, including personal or business relationships, and withdraw from participating or voting on any competition, commission, or project with which they are involved that come before the MNAC, PAC, or selection panels.
- C. Other participants. Members of the project management, project architect, or consulting firms and employees of Metropolitan Government of Nashville and Davidson County are ineligible to receive public art funds for design services or public art commissions.
- D. Selection panelists. Selection panels will exclude family or household members or those who have personal or business relationships with an artist or artwork under consideration for a public art project by that panel. Business relationships include but are not limited to gallery owners, brokers, artist representatives, agents, fabricators, suppliers, and employers.
- E. Artists.
 1. An artist is ineligible to serve as a selection panelist while under consideration for a public art commission or project.
 2. An artist is precluded from having his/her work considered for a public art commission or project once selected for or while serving on a selection panel.
 3. An artist is precluded from having his/her work considered for a public art commission or project while under contract with the Metro Nashville Arts Commission.

VIII. Selection Criteria for Artists and Artwork

- A. General criteria. Projects undertaken by artists or acquisitions of artwork whether by commission, purchase, gift, or other means should further the purpose and goals of the MNAC public art program. The Public Art Committee (PAC) will determine the appropriate recruitment strategy to establish a pool of artists for each project based on standard methods described in Appendix C. The selection panel will apply the following criteria when selecting artists, considering acquisitions or siting artwork:
 1. Artistic Merit - The inherent quality and excellence of a proposed artwork together with the strength of the artist's concept and design capabilities, are the program's highest priorities.
 2. Context - Artwork must be compatible in scale, material, form, and content with their surroundings. When serving a functional purpose, artworks may establish focal points; modify, enhance, or define specific spaces; establish identity or address specific issues of civic design. Consideration should also be given to the architectural, historical, geographical and social/cultural context of the site or community, as well as the way people may interact with the artwork.
 3. Relevant experience - Experience and professional record of the artist(s) should provide convincing evidence of ability to successfully complete the project as proposed. Particularly on collaborative or artist team projects artists should demonstrate ability to:
 - a. Communicate effectively and elicit the ideas of team members;
 - b. Exhibit flexibility and problem-solving skills;
 - c. Work with architectural drawings and construction documents;
 - d. Engage community representatives in a project.
 4. Permanence/maintenance - Due consideration will be given to the structural and surface soundness, operational costs and inherent resistance to theft, vandalism, weathering and excessive maintenance.

5. Technical feasibility - An artist must exhibit a successful track record of construction and installation of artwork or show that an appropriate professional has examined the proposed artwork and confirmed feasibility of construction and installation.
 6. Budget - An artist's proposal should provide a budget adequate to cover all costs for the design, fabrication, insurance, transportation, storage, and installation of the proposed artwork, plus reasonable unforeseen circumstances. Artists should have a history of completing projects within budget.
 7. Diversity - Artwork will be sought from artists of diverse ethnic and cultural identities and from local, regional, national, and international artists. The PAC encourages applications from artists working in both established and experimental art forms.
 8. Fabrication and installation schedules - The artist proposal should include a project timeline that incorporates design review, fabrication, delivery and installation in accordance with project schedule. The artist should have a history of completing projects on time.
 9. The PAC and selection panel may recommend rejection of all submissions if none are considered satisfactory and a new pool of artists may be established.
- B. Gift proposals. A potential donor of artwork will consult with MNAC staff then submit a written proposal or letter of intent to the MNAC for review by the PAC. Whenever possible the donor will present the actual artwork for approval. Following PAC review, a selection panel will evaluate each proposed gift of artwork based on the selection criteria and make a recommendation to the PAC for MNAC approval. All gift proposals will include:
1. A site plan that locates the artwork if a specific location is proposed;
 2. Description of actual materials which may include drawings, photographs or samples;
 3. Installation details, including architectural drawings and/or construction documents;
 4. Recommended maintenance plan;
 5. Proposals for large or monumental works will include a maquette of a 3-D work or drawings of 2-D work;
 6. Funding provisions:
 - a. Any display or placement of artwork gifts or bequests, whether temporary or permanent, must be covered by insurance, endowment, or contractual agreement for maintenance, so that the gifts or bequests will remain in a condition satisfactory to the donor and the MNAC;
 - b. The insurance, endowment or contractual agreement must also cover costs of installation, storage and/or removal;
 7. An estimate of value by a certified art appraiser or from a source acceptable to the MNAC.
- C. Monetary gifts. Donors may contribute monetary gifts to the public art funds. If the donor proposes a project or commission, a written proposal or letter of intent will be submitted to the MNAC for review by the PAC, then a selection panel will evaluate the proposal based on the selection criteria and make a recommendation to the PAC for MNAC approval.

IX. Placement of Artwork

- A. Process. When public art funds are generated from a construction project, the MNAC staff and PAC will meet to determine whether a public art project will be located at the construction site or if those funds will be pooled for future projects. MNAC staff will propose site option(s) for artworks from pooled funds for review by the PAC, that will present the recommended site for MNAC approval.

- B. Factors. In determining a site for artwork commissioned, purchased, donated or loaned, the Public Art Committee will consider the following factors:
1. Visibility and civic prominence;
 2. Public accessibility to proposed artwork for all individuals, including facility users, surrounding community members and those with special needs;
 3. Public safety and liability issues;
 4. Vehicular and pedestrian traffic patterns;
 5. Relationship to architectural and natural features, landscape design, environmental impact and concerns, and future plans for the area;
 6. Social context and other uses of the artwork or space;
 7. Existing artwork within the proposed site vicinity.
- C. Other considerations.
1. In selecting a site for a Percent for Public Art project, first consideration will be given to the location of the construction project which generated the funds;
 2. A location opportunity plan will provide other site options (refer to II.C, Future Goals, page 2);
 3. The PAC and MNAC staff will coordinate the placement of the art with the site sponsor and department having oversight responsibility;
 4. Appropriate recognition and publicity of the artwork will be the dual responsibility of the department having oversight responsibility and MNAC staff;
 5. Review and approval of temporary artwork or exhibitions will be the responsibility of the department having oversight of the display or exhibition. These projects will not be subject to the Public Art Guidelines. Temporary artwork or exhibitions are those loaned or created for display on Metro-owned property for ninety (90) days or less.
 6. Temporary artwork should be documented by the site sponsor, responsible department, or the artist(s) for the MNAC inventory through appropriate media, such as photographs, slides, or digital record.

X. Funding

- A. Sources of funds.
1. The public art ordinance dedicates 1 percent of the net proceeds of any general obligation bond issued for construction projects (as defined in the Ordinance) to fund the public art program (See Ordinance BL2000-250 in Appendix A.) Bond funds shall be maintained in a separate fund for each bond issue in order for Metro Government to track properly the expenditure of bond proceeds in accordance with U.S. Treasury rules and regulations pertaining to arbitrage provisions.
 2. A portion of funds received by Metro from state and federal sources may be allocated to the public art program. If required, these funds shall be maintained in a separate fund based on the terms and conditions of the funding.
 3. Donations from the private sector or grants from the private or public sector shall be encouraged as a means to broaden the existing program potential. These funds shall be maintained in a separate fund for the public art program.
- B. Funding process. Funds will be dispersed in accordance with Metro Finance Department policies and procedures.
- C. Application of public art funds.

1. Bond proceeds generated for Percent for Public Art projects may be spent for the acquisition of artwork, including:
 - a. Artist-related costs consisting of:
 - i. Artist's design fee;
 - ii. Operating and overhead costs;
 - iii. Labor and materials;
 - iv. Proposals, drawings, or maquettes;
 - v. Metro required permits related to construction or erection of artwork;
 - vi. Project-related travel;
 - vii. Transportation of artwork to the site;
 - viii. Installation;
 - ix. Site preparation or modification when not included in construction costs;
 - x. Frames, mats, mounting, anchorage, pedestals, cases or other materials necessary for the installation, display and/or security of the artwork (such as fire retardant or graffiti resistant treatment);
 - xi. A portion of the budget for the artwork may be set aside for contingency at the beginning of a project and returned to the public art fund if unused.
 - b. Project management costs, at fifteen to twenty percent (15-20%) of project funds, based on size and complexity of project, consisting of:
 - i. Artist recruitment costs;
 - ii. Fees for consultants to a selection panel;
 - iii. Pre-contract artists' costs;
 - iv. Permanent identification plaques and labels;
 - v. Documentation directly related to the acquisition or to establish ownership of the artwork;
 - vi. Educational activities directly pertaining to the project.
 - c. Architectural and engineering design services when they cannot be included in construction costs;
 - d. Insurance;
 - e. Capital maintenance and restoration of artwork acquired through the public art program under the bond laws (See XI. Maintenance and Conservation for policy.);
 - f. Storage and disposal costs for resited or deaccessioned artwork acquired through the public art program;
 - g. Special projects and other purposes directly related to a specific Percent for Public Art project and recommended by the PAC for MNAC approval.
2. Non-bond funds may be spent for:
 - a. Public relations and general education, such as locator guides, web-site or documentation catalogs;
 - b. Review and management of the public art collection;
 - c. Dedications and publicity;
 - d. Special public art projects recommended by the PAC for MNAC approval.
3. Exclusions. No public art funds may be spent for:
 - a. Reproductions of original artwork;
 - b. Decorative or functional elements by the project design professionals such as architects, landscape architects, engineers, or their consultants;

- c. Art objects that are mass-produced of standard design, such as playground equipment or fountains;
- d. Directional elements such as signs, maps, color coding, unless designed or executed by an artist and integral to a specific project;
- e. Utility costs;
- f. Building or maintaining cultural facilities;
- g. Ongoing routine maintenance and restoration of artwork.
- h. Monuments or memorials

XI. Maintenance and Conservation

A. Maintenance policies.

1. Prior to acceptance of a new artwork by Metro, the artist will submit in writing a routine maintenance plan for the department having oversight responsibility, and provide appropriate training where necessary;
2. Routine maintenance of permanently installed artwork will be the responsibility of the department having oversight and will be done according to artist's maintenance plan;
3. Maintenance will be guaranteed by the artist against all defects of material and workmanship for a minimum of one year following installation or according to the artist's contract;
4. The artist will have the opportunity to comment on, and participate in, all repairs and restorations that are made during his/her lifetime;
5. On an annual basis, Metro Nashville Arts Commission (MNAC) staff will track routine maintenance activities on artwork acquired through the public art program.
6. The department with oversight will be responsible for keeping the MNAC staff informed about changes in the condition of the artwork and the site;
7. Responsible departments will not clean or repair artwork beyond what is specified in the artist's maintenance plan without the prior written authorization of the MNAC staff or PAC;
8. Any proposed public art project requiring operation or maintenance expenses shall include a maintenance plan with estimates of annual operating and maintenance expense and be submitted for prior approval by:
 - a. The Director of Finance, as to the availability of funds;
 - b. The department head responsible for such operation or maintenance;
 - c. The Metropolitan Council, of funds appropriate to cover such operation and maintenance expenses.

- B. Conservation policy. The PAC will establish policies and procedures to evaluate the public art collection on a regular basis for purposes of conservation and assessment of the collection's future.

XII. Resiting and Deaccessioning

- A. Policies. The Metro Nashville Arts Commission (MNAC) will retain the right to resite or deaccession any artwork in accordance with Visual Artists Rights Act (see Appendix E: VARA copyright law), regardless of the source of funding or method of acquisition. While the intent of acquisition is for long-term public display, circumstances and/or conditions may arise that make it prudent for the MNAC, on behalf of the public interest, to remove an artwork from public display. However, the review process will insure that resiting or deaccessioning will be a seldom-employed action that operates from a strong presumption against removing artwork from the public art collection, insulating the collection from fluctuations in taste.

- B. Reasons for resiting or deaccessioning. The Public Art Committee will recommend to the MNAC that a specific artwork be resited or deaccessioned only if one or more of the following criteria are met:
 - 1. The site is being eliminated;
 - 2. The site is being altered such that the artwork is no longer compatible with the site;
 - 3. The security of the artwork can no longer be reasonably guaranteed at its current site;
 - 4. The artwork has become a danger to public safety;
 - 5. The cost of maintaining or updating the artwork's operating technology is cost prohibitive;
 - 6. Significant adverse reaction to the artwork from the community has continued for an extended period (at least ten years).
- C. Procedures. Once the PAC has determined that an artwork meets one or more of the above criteria and with the approval of the MNAC, the following process is initiated:
 - 1. The PAC and MNAC staff make a good faith attempt to discuss resiting with the artist;
 - 2. If the artist does not agree to the proposed resiting, he/she will have the right to prevent the use of his/her name as the author of the artwork or to buy back the work as addressed in the artist contract;
 - 3. If, in the opinion of MNAC, there is not another appropriate site, the artwork may be stored or deaccessioned;
 - 4. If deaccessioned, all rights will revert to the artist, where consistent with contractual agreements. If the artist waives those rights the MNAC will dispose of the artwork;
 - 5. If the structural integrity or condition of an artwork, in the opinion of the PAC and MNAC staff, presents an eminent threat to public safety, the MNAC executive director may authorize its immediate removal, without MNAC action or the artist's consent. The executive director would declare a state of emergency and have the work placed in temporary storage. The artist and the MNAC must be notified of this action within 30 days. The PAC will then recommend options for disposition (e.g., repair, reinstallation, maintenance provisions or deaccessioning) to the MNAC for approval;
 - 6. In the event that the artwork cannot be removed without being irreparably damaged or destroyed, and if artist rights are not waived in the contractual agreement, the MNAC staff must attempt to gain such written permission before proceeding. In the event that this cannot be accomplished before action is required in order to protect the public health and safety, the MNAC executive director will proceed according to the advice of the Metropolitan Government Department of Law.

XIII. Review and Amendment

- A. These guidelines are subject to periodic review and revision by the Public Art Committee and subsequent approval by the MNAC.

Ordinance No. BL2000-250, Public Art Ordinance

An ordinance amending Title 5 of the Metropolitan Code of Laws relative to providing funding for public art projects and providing for public art guidelines.

Whereas, public art enhances the built environment of a city and enriches the lives of its citizens; and

Whereas, the presence of public art encourages the careers of local professional artists and provides possible opportunities for their employment and career advancement; and

Whereas, a dedicated funding source for an established program of public art enhances the reputation of a city and serves as a vehicle for attracting new businesses; and

Whereas, the Metropolitan Council believes that the citizens of Nashville and Davidson County will benefit from an increased presence of public art in and around publicly owned facilities, structures and public ways.

Now, therefore, be it enacted by The Council of The Metropolitan Government of Nashville And Davidson County:

Section 1. That Title 5 of the Metropolitan Code of Laws be amended to add a new Chapter 5.10 Public Art Financing, as follows:

Chapter 5.10. Public Art Financing

Section 5.10.010 Definitions.

- (a) "Commission" means the Metropolitan Nashville Arts Commission.
- (b) "Construction Project" means any capital project, approved in the Capital Improvements Budget involving the building or erection of any public building, structure, park, or parking facility, which project is funded in compliance with federal and state law. Construction Project shall also include the reconstruction replacement, extension, repairing, betterment or improvement of any public building, structure, park or parking facility where the cost of the improvement exceeds fifty percent of the value of the building, structure, park or parking facility before the reconstruction, replacement, repair or improvement. "Construction Project" shall not include capital projects required to be undertaken by the Metropolitan Government in conformance with agreements in existence on the effective date of this ordinance.
- (c) "Public Art Guidelines" means the guidelines required by Section 5.10.030 of this ordinance.
- (d) "Public art project" means a project funded as part of a general obligation bond issue that has been approved in accordance with the Public Art Guidelines.

Section 5.10.020 Sources of funding.

- (a) One percent (1%) of the net proceeds of any general obligation bond issued to fund Construction Project(s) shall be deposited and set aside to fund public art. Proceeds so deposited may be expended, in conformance with existing agreements and state and federal law, on the building, erection, reconstruction, replacement, extension, repairing, betterment or improvement of public art projects prescribed by the Public Art Guidelines. If one percent (1%) of a particular bond issue is insufficient to fund a public art project, proceeds so deposited may, in conformance with state and federal law, accumulate until they are sufficient to fund a public art project. Proceeds deposited for public art projects may be used for architectural and engineering design associated with the public art project. No part of the general fund reserve fund of the general services district ("Four Percent funds") may be used for debt service payments on the portion of bonds issued that include public art projects as an eligible expenditure.

(b) In addition to general obligation bond funds, donations from private persons or entities and state or federal monies may be expended on public art projects in accordance with the Public Art Guidelines. No part of the general fund reserve fund of the general services district ("Four Percent funds") may be used to finance public art projects.

Section 5.10.030 Duties of the Commission.

The Commission shall:

(a) Adopt Public Art Guidelines, which shall include criteria for accepting donations or gifts, both cash and tangible art, a method or methods for the selection of artists or public art projects and for placement of public art projects.

(b) Acting through the Department of Finance, Division of Purchasing, purchase public art projects or commission the design, execution and/or placement of public art projects. The Commission shall consult with the department responsible for a particular construction project regarding the design, execution and/or placement of a public art project in connection with such construction project.

(c) Require that any proposed public art project requiring operation or maintenance expenses receive prior approval of the Director of Finance as to availability of funds, the department head responsible for such operation or maintenance and approval by the Metropolitan Council of funds appropriate to cover such operation and maintenance expenses as required by law.

(d) Promulgate rules and regulations consistent with this ordinance to facilitate the implementation of its responsibilities hereunder, which rules and regulations shall be approved by a resolution approved by a majority of the Metropolitan Council.

Section 2. That this ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage, the welfare of the Metropolitan Government of Nashville and Davidson County requiring it. (See Appendix G for Rules and Regulations of the Metro Nashville Arts Commission.)

1. Employee responsibilities. Each employee of the Metropolitan Government shall avoid any action, whether or not specifically prohibited by this order, departmental codes of ethics, or Ordinance No. BL2007-1382, which might result in, or create the appearance of:

- d. losing complete independence or impartiality;
- e. making a Metropolitan Government decision outside of official channels; or
- f. affecting adversely the confidence of the public in the integrity of the Metropolitan Government.

2. Persons covered. This Executive Order applies to all employees of the Metropolitan Government except: employees of the Nashville Electric Service, Metropolitan Nashville Airport Authority, Metropolitan Development and Housing Agency, Metropolitan Transit Authority, Metropolitan Sports Authority, and the Metropolitan Hospital Authority, non-professional employees of the Board of Health, and elected officials.

3. Mayor's office covered. This order applies to the Mayor and employees of the Mayor's office.

4. Standards of Conduct. Employees of the Metropolitan Government shall be guided by the provisions set out in Ordinance No. BL2007-1382, amending Title 2 of the Metropolitan Code of Laws, when determining appropriate standards of conduct.

5. Questions on interpretation of this order. When an employee is in doubt as to the proper interpretation of this order, he or she is expected to seek the advice of the applicable Department Head or the Director of Law if time permits, or to use good judgment in accordance with (1) above and to report the gift, entertainment or favor to the Department Head or the Director of Law within seven (7) days.

6. Departmental ethics standards. Any department or agency of the Metropolitan Government may establish such additional ethics guidelines and standards as may be lawfully applied and may in the opinion of the head of the department or agency be appropriate for the proper operation of the department. Such additional standards should be filed with the Director of Law and any other person required by law as soon as practicable after adoption. This Executive Order does not supersede or revoke those portions of any existing departmental or agency policies regarding ethical standards which are stricter than, or cover areas additional to, the standards set out herein.

7. Ethics guidelines published by Personnel Director. The personnel director is requested, with the permission of the Civil Service Commission and the Board of Health and its Civil Service Commission, to maintain a system whereby each covered employee is informed of the requirements of this order, each covered employee has access to the order and sign a statement that they have received and/or read it, and to maintain personnel manuals which reflect the standards outlined in this order.

8. Supervisors Responsible. Each employee of the Metropolitan Government who acts in a supervisory capacity is responsible for achieving compliance with the Executive Order by those persons in his or her line of authority.

9. Required contractual provision. Department heads and others who approve contracts for their departments shall include in every employment contract the provision that employees provided to the Metropolitan Government under such contract are covered by this Executive Order.

Methods of Recruiting and Selecting Artists

Open Competition

(Request for Qualifications or Request for Proposals). An open competition is a "Call to Artists" for a specific project in which artists are asked to submit evidence of their past work. Any artist may submit credentials and/or proposals, subject to any limitations established by the Public Art Committee. Calls for entries for open competitions will be sufficiently detailed to permit artists to determine whether their work is appropriate to the project under consideration.

Limited Competition

A limited number of artists shall be invited by the PAC to submit credentials and/or proposals for a specific project. Artists shall be invited based on their past work and exhibited abilities to meet situations posed by particular project requirements or based on other non-aesthetic, public art program goals.

Invitational Competition

In an invitational competition, a very small number of artists (usually between three and six) are invited to submit credentials and/or proposals for a specific project. Invited artists shall be selected directly by staff or identified by the PAC through an initial slide review process. Artists shall be included in the slide review process based on their ability to meet situations presented by the given project.

Direct Selection

At times, the PAC may elect to make a direct selection in which they contact a specific artist for a particular project. Such an election may occur for any reason, but will generally occur when circumstances surrounding the project warrant either an open or invitational competition unfeasible (for example: project timeline, community or social considerations, client demand, etc.). Over time an ongoing list of eligible artists will be developed and approved by the PAC for use in direct selection projects.

Mixed Process

A mixed process includes any combination of the above approaches.

Appendix D

Funding Process

Receipt of Bond Funds

Each bond issue will be assigned a separate fund number for tracking purposes by Metro Finance, Department of Accounts. When those funds are received for construction projects referenced by the public art ordinance BL2000-250, one percent will be dedicated and budgeted to a business unit managed by the Metro Nashville Arts Commission (MNAC) for use in accordance with the Public Art Guidelines.

Once funds are budgeted, the MNAC will appropriate when possible the funds before the ending date of the bond issue, typically twenty (20) years, according to the arbitrage spend-down test.

Interest earnings from bond proceeds dedicated to the public art program, net of arbitrage rebate requirements, shall be made available annually, after completion of the annual arbitrage rebate calculation.

Donations received for the public art program shall be assigned to a special business unit, unless donated with restriction. Restricted donations will be assigned their own business unit for tracking purposes.

Disbursement of Bond Funds

As bond issues are assigned to the MNAC, public art funds will be expended in order of issuance, oldest first. Unused funds at completion of project will be allocated to future projects.

Disbursement of funds for capital maintenance will be at the discretion of the Public Art Committee, according to the Public Art Guidelines maintenance policy.

Expenditures not directly related to a specific public art project must be disbursed from a non-bond fund.

Visual Artists Rights Act of 1990

1. From Monty Python to Leona Helmsley: A Guide to the Visual Artists Rights Act

by Cynthia Esworthy, NEA Office of General Counsel, JD Washington & Lee Law School 1997

Source: www.arts.endow.gov/artforms/Manage/VARA.html

You are a sculptor. On commission, you create a bronze frieze for a city park. A year later, you discover that the center of the frieze has been covered by a copy of the city seal. Can you force the city to remove the seal?

You have just purchased an office building. In the central lobby there is a large, permanently fixed sculpture that you find aesthetically displeasing. Can you remove it?

You are a well-known painter. You discover that a company that has purchased one of your canvases is advertising one-inch square portions of it so that buyers can "own an original painting" by you. Can you stop them?

You are an airport. You commission a giant mobile, specifically designed for the interior of your central terminal. You would like to relocate the mobile to the front exterior entrance of the terminal, which will require weatherproofing, removal of the motor and rendering the mobile stationary, and repainting it to match the color scheme. Can the artist prevent the move or modifications?

You are a photographer. You discover that a limited edition triptych you created and sold has been separated into three pieces for resale. Can you require that the piece be sold as a whole?

You are a county arts agency. You commission a mural for the side of a county building. You later discover that a state law requires you to build a handicapped access ramp blocking the lower part of the mural. Can you paint over the lower part of the mural?

You are a printmaker. A collector has just sold one of your prints for 100 times the original cost. Are you entitled to a royalty on the sale?

What rights does an artist have once the work is sold? Until 1990, with rare exceptions - such as Monty Python, which won a lawsuit preventing broadcast of edited programs - artists in the United States had virtually no power to protect their work from mutilation, misattribution, or destruction. For example, in 1966, Maryland commissioned William Smith to create nine murals highlighting the state's history, subsequently installed but altered the central panel, and then refused to remove his name from the piece. He had no recourse. In 1980, the Bank of Tokyo commissioned and then removed Isamu Noguchi's 1,600 pound sculpture, Shinto, from its Manhattan lobby, sliced it into pieces, and warehoused it, without notifying the artist. He had no recourse. In 1979, the General Services Administration commissioned and then, after office workers complained about it, removed Richard Serra's Tilted Arc, a site-specific sculpture bisecting Manhattan's Foley Square. He had no recourse.

With the 1990 passage of the Visual Artists Rights Act (VARA), protecting the moral rights of attribution and integrity, the successors of Smith, Noguchi, or Serra have a far greater ability to protect against similar threats to their work. But, as three artists who spent several years creating a massive sculptural installation learned after Helmsley-Spear purchased the building, these rights are not absolute: the Supreme Court recently ruled that VARA does not prevent the removal and destruction of their work. VARA applies only to a restricted category of visual artworks, extends only limited rights, and is subject to loopholes, exclusions, and waiver provisions that substantially erode its powers.

What are moral rights?

Property ownership does not necessarily convey absolute rights over the thing bought. Real estate ownership, for example, is restricted by zoning legislation. Preservation legislation recognizes society's interest in preserving its architectural treasures, despite private ownership. Similarly, moral rights legislation recognizes that art ownership is not an absolute property right.

The term moral right itself comes from the French le droit moral, an 18th century French concept referring to rights of a non-economic but spiritual or personal nature, existing independently of an artist's copyright. Such rights are based on what the court in Carter v. Helmsley-Spear, Inc. explained as "a belief that an artist in the process of creation injects his spirit into the work and that the artist's personality as well as the integrity of the work, should therefore be protected and preserved." Moral rights include (1) disclosure or divulgation, which allows the artist to determine when a work is complete and may be displayed; (2) paternity or attribution, which allows an artist to protect the identification of his name with his own work, and to disclaim it when applied to another's; (3) the right of withdrawal, which permits the artist to modify or withdraw a work following publication; and (4) integrity, which allows the artist to prevent his work from being displayed in an altered, distorted, or mutilated form.

Works covered by VARA

VARA covers only limited, fine art categories of "works of visual art": paintings, sculptures, drawings, prints, still photographs produced for exhibition. Within this group, only single copies or signed and numbered limited editions of 200 or less are actually protected. VARA does not apply to any of the following: works made for hire, posters, maps, globes or charts, technical drawings, diagrams, models, applied art, motion pictures, books and other publications, electronic publications, merchandising items or advertising, promotional, descriptive, covering, packaging material or container, nor does it cover any work not subject to general copyright protection.

Rights conferred by VARA

Of the moral rights panoply conferred by other nations, VARA recognizes only attribution and integrity as legal causes of action. Attribution includes the rights to claim authorship of a work, to prevent attachment of an artist's name to a work which he did not create, and, where there has been a subsequent distortion, mutilation, or modification of the work prejudicial to the artist's honor or reputation, the right to disclaim authorship and to prevent identification of the artist's name with the work. Congress did not define the term prejudicial to one's honor or reputation, but the House Report on VARA advised focusing on "the artistic or professional honor or reputation of the individual as embodied in the work that is protected. While no per se rule exists, modification of a work of recognized stature will generally establish harm to honor or reputation." The court in Carter v. Helmsley-Spear, one of the few cases filed under VARA, relied on expert testimony, focusing on "good name, public esteem, or reputation in the artistic community."

The right of integrity gives the artist the right to prevent any intentional distortion, mutilation or other modification of his work prejudicial to his honor or reputation. Where the work is of recognized stature, the right of integrity further includes the right to prevent any intentional or grossly negligent destruction of the work. Again, Congress left the definition of recognized stature open, so the courts will have the responsibility of fashioning an explanation on a case-by-case basis.

Exceptions to VARA coverage

Congress was careful to delineate several exceptions. For example, natural modifications resulting from aging or the inherent nature or quality of the materials used do not constitute statutory modification, distortion or mutilation. Similarly, modification resulting from conservation or public presentation involving lighting and placement is not a prohibited modification unless caused by gross negligence. So, for example, while some natural fading is unavoidable for textiles, excessive fading of especially fragile materials caused by overexposure to direct sunlight could trigger the statute. Similarly, the natural melting of an ice sculpture falls into the inherent nature exception and would not trigger the statute, but loss could be prohibited separately by contract.

The rights to claim or disclaim authorship of a work and to prevent the use of one's name on a distorted, mutilated, or modified work prejudicial to one's honor or reputation do not apply to a reproduction, depiction, portrayal, or other use of a work of visual art outside the statute's limited protected class. Nor do they constitute a mutilation.

Congress also made VARA rights subject to 113(d) of the copyright law, which addresses problems arising where the work is part of a building. For example, the right of integrity does not apply if the artist either consented to the installation of the artwork before VARA's trigger date [December 1, 1990], or both the artist and the building owner executed a written agreement on or after the trigger date, specifying that installation of the artwork may subject the work to damage by reason of removal.

If the building owner wants to remove an artwork which can be safely removed, the artist's rights apply unless (1) the building owner has made a diligent, good faith but unsuccessful attempt at notification of the artist of his removal intent, or (2) the building owner did provide notice, but the artist either failed to remove the work or to pay for its removal within 90 days after receiving notice. A "diligent, good-faith attempt" involves sending notice by registered mail to the artist at his most recent address as recorded by the Register of Copyrights. This record is part of a system, established by Congress, which permits an artist whose work is incorporated in a building to record his identity and address, with available update procedures, and similarly permits building owners to record evidence of their efforts to comply.

Another exception involves Congress' specification that the VARA rights are wholly independent of the copyright owner's exclusive rights (1) to reproduce the copyrighted work in copies; (2) to prepare derivative works based on the copyrighted work; (3) to distribute copies to the public by sale or other forms of ownership transfer, e.g., barter, or by rental, lease, or lending; and (4) to display the work publicly. While the artist retains VARA rights, these rights transfer to whoever owns the copyright in the artwork.

Congress further provided that VARA rights were subject to 107 fair use limitations on exclusive rights. If the artwork is copyrighted, there are permissible fair use purposes for which the work may be reproduced, and which constitute a defense to infringement, including "criticism, comment, news reporting, teaching, scholarship, or research." In given circumstances, artistic parody may also be a defense subject to the four-factor fair use analysis. The statute sets forth four factors which must be considered in determining whether a use is permissible: the purpose and character of the use, the nature of the copyrighted work itself, the amount and substantiality of the portion used in relation to the copyrighted work as a whole, and the effect of the use on the potential market for or value of the copyrighted work.

Exercise of rights, including transfer and waiver

VARA restricts the exercise of the rights of attribution and integrity to the author or joint authors of the artwork, regardless of whether he/they hold title either to the copyright or the artwork itself. Thus while both copyright and physical ownership are property rights which may be transferred, moral rights may not be transferred.

Moral rights may, however, be waived. The waiver instrument must be very specific: the creator must consent in a written and signed instrument specifically identifying the artwork, the uses of that work, and with a clause limiting the waiver to both aspects. Where the artwork is created by more than one author, any one creator's waiver binds the group.

Duration

For works created on or after December 1, 1990, (VARA's trigger date) VARA's moral rights are granted for the life of the author, or in the case of a joint work, until the death of the last surviving author. Works created before that date, but still owned by the author on that date, are coextensive with and expire at the same time as the copyright.

Remedies

The legal remedies available for a violation of moral rights are the same as the civil (but not criminal) remedies available for copyright infringement: injunction, impounding, damages, profits or statutory damages, costs and reasonable attorney's fees. Statutory damages range from a $500 minimum to a $20,000 maximum, increasing to $100,000 for willful infringements and decreasing to $200 for innocent infringements.

Under VARA (unlike copyright infringement), an artist has a cause of action in a federal court even if his artwork is not registered with the Copyright Office. Because the burden of proof on the artist diminishes and the amount of monetary damages could increase if an artwork is registered before an infringement, an artist should register his copyright as soon as possible.

It's important for artists to be aware that, while VARA establishes specific federal causes of action, additional protections are often available under state statutes. In addition, they can negotiate even more expansive rights enforceable by contract. For example, an artist could negotiate a resale royalty and specify an intent to retain rights of reproduction, even though additional contractual obligations are normally limited to the first sale.

Buyers and art owners should equally understand that VARA does not intrude on the standard protections available to them through contracts to purchase or commission, but in fact allows moral rights waivers. Those entering a commission arrangement can further specify that the work is for hire, which would put the work outside VARA protection, but they must meet the other criteria for that category.

Further Information

The text of the Visual Artists Rights Act can be found in 17 U.S.C. §§ 101 et seq. (www.law.cornell.edu/usca/17/overview.html). Key sections are 101 (definitions), 106 (basic moral rights), and 113 (artworks incorporated into buildings). You can also contact the Copyright Office (lcweb.loc.gov/copyright/) for further information. If you are an artist facing VARA issues, you may want to contact an organization such as Volunteer Lawyers for the Arts or the Washington Area Lawyers for the Arts that provides legal assistance to artists. You may also want to consult organizations in your field, such as the International Sculpture Center for sculptors.

2. Title 17, Section 106 (VARA- Basic Provision)

Source: www.loc.gov/copyright/title17/92chap1.html#106a

§ 106A. Rights of certain authors to attribution and integrity

(a) RIGHTS OF ATTRIBUTION AND INTEGRITY.—Subject to section 107 and independent of the exclusive rights provided in section 106, the author of a work of visual art—

(1) shall have the right—

(A) to claim authorship of that work, and

(B) to prevent the use of his or her name as the author of any work of visual art which he or she did not create;

(2) shall have the right to prevent the use of his or her name as the author of the work of visual art in the event of a distortion, mutilation, or other modification of the work which would be prejudicial to his or her honor or reputation; and

(3) subject to the limitations set forth in section 113(d), shall have the right—

(A) to prevent any intentional distortion, mutilation, or other modification of that work which would be prejudicial to his or her honor or reputation, and any intentional distortion, mutilation, or modification of that work is a violation of that right, and

(B) to prevent any destruction of a work of recognized stature, and any intentional or grossly negligent destruction of that work is a violation of that right.

(b) SCOPE AND EXERCISE OF RIGHTS.—Only the author of a work of visual art has the rights conferred by subsection (a) in that work, whether or not the author is the copyright owner. The authors of a joint work of visual art are coowners of the rights conferred by subsection (a) in that work.

(c) EXCEPTIONS.—(1) The modification of a work of visual art which is the result of the passage of time or the inherent nature of the materials is not a distortion, mutilation, or other modification described in subsection (a)(3)(A).

(2) The modification of a work of visual art which is the result of conservation, or of the public presentation, including lighting and placement, of the work is not a destruction, distortion, mutilation, or other modification described in subsection (a)(3) unless the modification is caused by gross negligence.

(3) The rights described in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (a) shall not apply to any reproduction, depiction, portrayal, or other use of a work in, upon, or in any connection with any item described in subparagraph (A) or (B) of the definition of “work of visual art” in section 101, and any such reproduction, depiction, portrayal, or other use of a work is not a destruction, distortion, mutilation, or other modification described in paragraph (3) of subsection (a).

(d) DURATION OF RIGHTS.—(1) With respect to works of visual art created on or after the effective date set forth in section 610(a) of the Visual Artists Rights Act of 1990, the rights conferred by subsection (a) shall endure for a term consisting of the life of the author.

(2) With respect to works of visual art created before the effective date set forth in section 610(a) of the Visual Artists Rights Act of 1990, but title to which has not, as of such effective date, been transferred from the author, the rights conferred by subsection (a) shall be coextensive with, and shall expire at the same time as, the rights conferred by section 106.

(3) In the case of a joint work prepared by two or more authors, the rights conferred by subsection (a) shall endure for a term consisting of the life of the last surviving author.

(4) All terms of the rights conferred by subsection (a) run to the end of the calendar year in which they would otherwise expire.

(e) TRANSFER AND WAIVER.—(1) The rights conferred by subsection (a) may not be transferred, but those rights may be waived if the author expressly agrees to such waiver in a written instrument signed by the author. Such instrument shall specifically identify the work, and uses of that work, to which the waiver applies, and the waiver shall apply only to the work and uses so identified. In the case of a joint work prepared by two or more authors, a waiver of rights under this paragraph made by one such author waives such rights for all such authors.

(2) Ownership of the rights conferred by subsection (a) with respect to a work of visual art is distinct from ownership of any copy of that work, or of a copyright or any exclusive right under a copyright in that work. Transfer of ownership of any copy of a work of visual art, or of a copyright or any exclusive right under a copyright, shall not constitute a waiver of the rights conferred by subsection (a). Except as may otherwise be agreed by the author in a written instrument signed by the author, a waiver of the rights conferred by subsection (a) with respect to a work of visual art shall not constitute a transfer of ownership of any copy of that work, or of ownership of a copyright or of any exclusive right under a copyright in that work.

3. Title 17, Section 113 (VARA- exception for artworks fixed to buildings)

Source: www.loc.gov/copyright/title17/92chap1.html#113

§ 113. Scope of exclusive rights in pictorial, graphic, and sculptural works

(a) Subject to the provisions of subsections (b) and (c) of this section, the exclusive right to reproduce a copyrighted pictorial, graphic, or sculptural work in copies under section 106 includes the right to reproduce the work in or on any kind of article, whether useful or otherwise.

(b) This title does not afford, to the owner of copyright in a work that portrays a useful article as such, any greater or lesser rights with respect to the making, distribution, or display of the useful article so portrayed than those afforded to such works under the law, whether title 17 or the common law or statutes of a State, in effect on December 31, 1977, as held applicable and construed by a court in an action brought under this title.

(c) In the case of a work lawfully reproduced in useful articles that have been offered for sale or other distribution to the public, copyright does not include any right to prevent the making, distribution, or display of pictures or photographs of such articles in connection with advertisements or commentaries related to the distribution or display of such articles, or in connection with news reports.

(d)(1) In a case in which—

(A) a work of visual art has been incorporated in or made part of a building in such a way that removing the work from the building will cause the destruction, distortion, mutilation, or other modification of the work as described in section 106A(a)(3), and

(B) the author consented to the installation of the work in the building either before the effective date set forth in section 610(a) of the Visual Artists Rights Act of 1990, or in a written instrument executed on or after such effective date that is signed by the owner of the building and the author and that specifies that installation of the work may subject the work to destruction, distortion, mutilation, or other modification, by reason of its removal, then the rights conferred by paragraphs (2) and (3) of section 106A(a) shall not apply.

(2) If the owner of a building wishes to remove a work of visual art which is a part of such building and which can be removed from the building without the destruction, distortion, mutilation, or other modification of the work as described in section 106A(a)(3), the author's rights under paragraphs (2) and (3) of section 106A(a) shall apply unless—

(A) the owner has made a diligent, good faith attempt without success to notify the author of the owner's intended action affecting the work of visual art, or

(B) the owner did provide such notice in writing and the person so notified failed, within 90 days after receiving such notice, either to remove the work or to pay for its removal.

For purposes of subparagraph (A), an owner shall be presumed to have made a diligent, good faith attempt to send notice if the owner sent such notice by registered mail to the author at the most recent address of the author that was recorded with the Register of Copyrights pursuant to paragraph (3). If the work is removed at the expense of the author, title to that copy of the work shall be deemed to be in the author.

(3) The Register of Copyrights shall establish a system of records whereby any author of a work of visual art that has been incorporated in or made part of a building, may record his or her identity and address with the Copyright Office. The Register shall also establish procedures under which any such author may update the information so recorded, and procedures under which owners of buildings may record with the Copyright Office evidence of their efforts to comply with this subsection.
