

The Hodge House, built around 1811, became part of Warner Parks through land purchases in 1928. Descendants of the Hodges are still involved in programming at the Park through the Nature Center.