ISSUE STATEMENTS

Issue Statement One

The varying missions of criminal justice organizations, and the demand for comprehensive data analysis and reporting, if not properly addressed could result in:

- Incomplete picture of system (Department vs. System Approach)
- Disjointed Reporting
- Inefficient Criminal Justice System

Issue Statement Two

The complexity and the ever-changing nature of the Criminal Justice Data Systems (CJIS, JMS, Police Data Systems) if not properly understood, could result in:

- The misunderstanding of data systems
- The potential for inaccurate reports
- Problematic decision-making
- Loss of organizational credibility
- Increased cost to taxpayers

STRATEGIC GOALS

Goal One

By 2013, Criminal Justice Departments and Agencies will experience comprehensive data analysis and reporting as evidenced by:

- 75% of reports delivered within established timeframes
- Annual Correctional Population Projection Report within  $\pm$  4% of actuals

Goal Two

By 2012, Criminal Justice Planning and the Criminal Justice Planning Advisory Board will have a current understanding of the complexity and ever-changing nature of the criminal justice system as evidenced by:

- Regularly consulting with data providers and data users to ensure relevance and appropriateness of collected data and to keep informed of changes in data (Policy A page 32)
- 50% of customers who say reports provided were useful in making current and future management decisions (Policy B page 32)
