This session brings back our two most popular classes: Creative Acting and Acting One.

Creative Acting covers a wide range of skills for budding theater artists, and is designed with fun mind!

Acting One offers a more focused look at theater skills, including scene-work, improv, character development and more.

Please NOTE: the age range for the Acting One class has changed from previous years.

And we are continuing with two of our offerings that began this past fall:

"Performance I" is an acting class that focuses skills through the rehearsal process and performance using "10-minute" and "One-Act" plays. Pre-requisite is Acting One, or the approval of the instructor.

"Show Choir" is a fun blend of music and theater, and is perfect for younger voices, (ages 9-13).

Of course, our ever-popular Young Actors Program is once again offering the full-scale summer musical. This program requires an audition. Auditions are currently scheduled for April 14th, with callbacks on April 16th. Auditions and will be at the Centennial Arts Activity Center. Auditionees should be prepared to sing a verse and chorus of two contrasting songs, preferably Broadway or Jazz. Rehearsals for those cast would begin in May and continue in June. Performances are June 21-June 30. . More details on the show and on the auditions will be available after Feb 1, 2012. For more info, or to be notified when more details are available, email carolyn.german@nashville.gov

This semester, our classes are led by a variety of instructors, including those from: Metro Parks Theater Dept, Arts in the Parks, Tennessee Women's Theater Project, and other professional guest instructors.

Session Starts Week of January 9th, 2012
