

A weekly selection of issues and activities relevant to local planning in Nashville and Davidson County

Issue #129
November 16, 2010

“Vertical farms” could be more efficient

They’d use less water and less space - which would be particularly helpful in city settings.

Will Nashville have a streetcar line?

A new video commissioned by the Transit Alliance of Middle Tennessee says it’d be a good idea.

Eating (almost) in the street

New York City’s about to start trimming some parking spaces to make room for “pop-up cafes.”

Questions, comments, or link suggestions: craig.owensby@nashville.gov

The Metro Nashville-Davidson County Planning Department publishes this weekly digest to inform members of the Planning Commission, Metro Council, Board of Zoning Appeals, and other interested parties about planning and growth issues in other communities which could apply to our city and region, with particular emphasis on appropriate development, smart growth, multimodal transportation, and other information which will help us build a sustainable future and a more livable city.