These highlighted areas are fields people sometimes forget. Check these fields on the form when individuals turn them in. If the form is incomplete, local county election officials will have to follow up with the applicant to complete the form, which may slow down the process.