VII. Definitions

Period of Significance: The time frame in which a neighborhood developed or was platted into building lots and substantially built out with structures, based on the criteria for listing in the National Register of Historic Places.

Background: The owner of 2020 10th Avenue South submitted two applications for 2020 10th Avenue South for the April 19, 2019 MHZC public hearing. One application is for the demolition of the entirety of the historic house and the other is for partial demolition and the construction of a rear addition. This document refers to the application for the demolition of the entire house.

Here is a timeline of recent, previous applications for this property:

Month of MHZC Public Hearing	Application	Result
July 2018	Full demolition	Deferral, applicant's request
August 2018	Full demolition	Deferral, applicant's request
September 2018	Full demolition	Deferral, applicant's request
October 2018	Full demolition	Deferral, applicant's request
January 2019	Partial demolition; addition 5'11" taller than historic house	Deferral, applicant's request
February 2019	Partial demolition; addition 3'10" taller than historic house	Deferral, applicant's request
March 2019	Partial demolition; addition 3'10" taller than historic house	Deferral, applicant's request

2020 10th Avenue South is one of the oldest houses in the Waverly-Belmont neighborhood (Figures 1 & 2). Historically, it was known as the Spillman House for former owners of the house and likely the original owners. Casper Spillman was a gardener and both he and his wife emigrated from Switzerland. The couple purchased the land from the W.L.B. Lawrence in 1874 and likely built the house, although the exact date of construction is not known.

The National Register nomination for the Waverly Place National Register Historic District lists the structure as contributing and describes it as c. 1880 building that is "1-story, frame, Italianate cottage, aluminum siding, recessed corner porch, gable roof, 4-bay." The 1880 census lists the Spillmans as living in the 10th District of Nashville, where 2020 10th Avenue South is located, but does not provide an address to confirm exactly where they lived. If the c. 1880 date of construction is correct, and staff believes that it is a good estimate, the house at 2020 10th Avenue South predates the platting of the Waverly-Belmont Neighborhood for development in 1888 (Figures 3 & 4). The Italianate design is more prevalent in areas developed before the building boom of this district, which also supports the early date of construction.

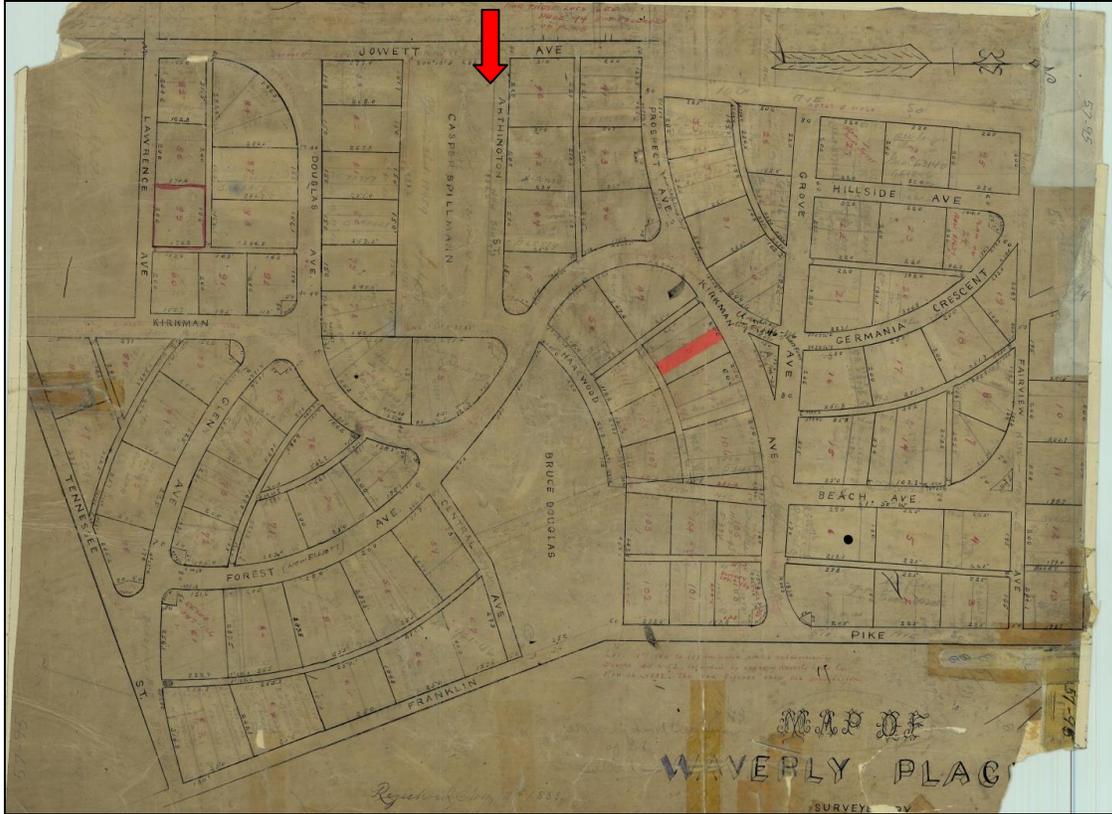

Figure 3. 1888 Plat for the Waverly Place Neighborhood. The arrow points to the approximate site of 2020 10th Avenue South, which is marked as being part of Casper Spillman’s land. Spillman’s property was not subdivided into small lots like most of the other land around it. It is assumed that the house at 2020 10th Avenue South was constructed prior to plat map.

Figure 4. An upclose look at the 1888 Plat for Waverly Place, showing the land that would become 2020 10th Ave South. 2020 10th Avenue South is on Casper Spillmann’s land. 10th Avenue South was then called “Jowett Avenue” and Benton Avenue was then “Arthington.”

Casper Spillman died in 1892, but members of his family continued to live in the house. The 1898 city directory lists Mary Spilman [sic] and Jacob Spilman [sic] Jr. as living on Jowlett Avenue (the then name for 10th Avenue South). The Spillmans began to sell off the property beginning around 1903.

The earliest insurance maps to include this part of Nashville show 2020 10th Avenue South (Figure 5 & 6). Even though MHZC staff has not pinpointed an exact date of construction for 2020 10th Avenue South, we know that it was there, in its current location, by at least 1908 when it appears on the Hopkins insurance map.

Until 2018, the house sat on a larger, wider lot. In 2018, Metro subdivided the lot into two parcels (Figure 3). As a result, the lot at 2020 10th Avenue South became narrower than typical lots in the area at approximately forty-five feet (45') wide at the front. MHZC approved new infill construction, with conditions, for the newly created parcel at 2018 10th Avenue South in July 2018. MHZC staff never received revised drawings meeting the Commission's conditions for approval, so MHZC staff has not issued yet the preservation permit for that infill.

Analysis and Findings: The applicant proposes to demolish a contributing home to the Waverly-Belmont National Register district and the Waverly Belmont Neighborhood Conservation Zoning Overlay.

Demolition: The Spillman house is listed in the Waverly Place National Register nomination as a contributing building. The National Register district, which includes just a portion of the Waverly Belmont Neighborhood Conservation Zoning Overlay, was listed in the National Register in 1985.

The nomination notes the building as a c. 1880 building that is “1-story, frame, Italianate cottage, aluminum siding, recessed corner porch, gable roof, 4-bay.” Comparing the home as it looks today to an image from 1968, prior to its contributory listing in the National Register, the home has not been altered to the extent that it would no longer be considered contributing (See Figures 1 & 2).

The nomination notes that the majority of non-contributing buildings are “a result of federal urban renewal programs;” and further states that “non-contributing buildings are relatively new buildings which disrupt the character of the district or those buildings which have been altered to the extent that their architectural integrity is lost.” Since the building was constructed prior to urban renewal, was not a “relatively new building” in 1985 when the nomination was written, and as stated previously, has not been greatly altered, staff finds that loss of the building would be detrimental to the public interest and therefore meets Section V.B.1.a for inappropriate demolition.

The National Register nomination estimates the home’s construction as 1880, which is prior to the area being platted. Staff has been able to document an age as early as 1898, based city directories and maps. The age of the building places it amongst the earliest homes for the district. The Italianate design is more prevalent in areas developed before the building boom of this district which also supports the early date of construction. Staff finds that the building could not be reproduced without great difficulty and expense, and therefore demolition meets Section V.B.1.b for inappropriate demolition.

The applicant did not provide any information such as evidence of a later construction date than currently believed or evidence that the building no longer has historic integrity. The request for demolition is based on “home not built in the period of significance for the Waverly-Belmont overlay.” “Period of significance” is a term developed by the National Park Service to identify a time period in which a building or site experienced it’s most important, or “significant,” history. For local districts, the period of significance is the period of greatest growth and development. Neither the National Register nor local design guidelines attempt to use the term to define the overall historic dates of a district.

National Park Service’s definition of Period of significance: Period of significance refers to the span of time during which significant events and activities occurred. Events and associations with historic properties are finite; most properties have a clearly definable period of significance.

The period of significance for a district is not related to “contributory status” or whether or not a building is historic. For instance, one building can have multiple periods of significance that might be specific dates or date ranges. Those dates may or may not correspond to the building’s date of construction. Contributory status is determined based on the date of construction, historic integrity and how the building fits into, or does not fit into, the overall character and development of the district.

The building has not irretrievably lost its integrity and removal of the building will result in a loss of an important part of the district’s story since the building was constructed prior to the majority of development in the area. This may be the only building, or among a small number of buildings, that speak to this early time period of the district. Staff finds that demolition does not meet Section V.B.2.a or b for appropriate full demolition. The applicant did not submit any information with which to review Section V.B.2.c for economic hardship of the design guidelines.

Recommendation:

Staff recommends disapproval of full-demolition, finding the request meets Section V.B.1 of the design guidelines for inappropriate demolition and does not meet Section V.B.2 of the design guidelines for appropriate demolition.

Report from Fred Zahn, MHZC Inspector, June 11, 2018

An inspection was made of the house at 2010 10th Av South on June 27, 2018 by myself and historic zoning examiner, Melissa Sajid. The exterior, interior and basement were evaluated. At the time of this inspection, the interior finishes (plaster/drywall) had been removed from all walls and ceilings, allowing for a complete view of structural components of the building.

Based on the building materials, construction technique, and archival research, Staff finds that this home is one of the earliest remaining Victorian homes in the area. The stone foundation and the front corner addition date from approximately the same historic period, one in which many Bungalows were being built in Nashville.

It was evident, based on the type of framing material, that the left-front corner of the house had been added at a later date, yet early in the building's history. Staff found the alteration to meet the Secretary of Interior Standards for a change that has become historic in its own right.

There was no notable damage to the structural framing of the building observed, only moderate settling, most pronounced in the floor and to a lesser degree the roof, both of which are typical for a building of this age and easily correctable. The inspection included a low-light but effective walk through the basement. The partial dugout basement incorporates a concrete slab floor and concrete block retaining walls which looked to be well done and in atypically good condition. It was also apparent that the house was likely originally constructed on brick piers that were subsequently replaced with a full perimeter stone foundation. There is a small mudroom at the rear of the house which sits on a concrete block foundation and likely represents a third early period of construction and may be contemporary with the work done in the basement.

Robin,

It has come to my attention that a request to demolish 2020 10th Ave S. will be before the MHZC. I was taken aback by this request, as I attended the Planning Commission meeting in which a very compelling case was made to subdivide this lot, in order to build a second structure next to the existing structure -- the one now being requested for demolition. I vehemently oppose such a request, as I believe the Planning Commission was correct in granting the subdivision request. It seemed the best compromise for all parties involved. To go back on such an agreement now would not be in good faith. I ask that the MHZC reject this request.

Sincerely,

Colby

Ms. Zeigler,

I do not support the request to demolish this home! This is a beautiful historic home that could easily have an addition added to it and has plenty of space without the lot partitioned off. We have historic regulations to protect homes like this, not to demolish for the highest bidder. The neighborhood is losing not only its charm but also its affordability. Not everyone wants a 4000sq ft house nor does everyone want/have a million dollars to spend on a 4000 sqft house. I am a neighbor and do not support the demolition of this property.

Hi Robin,

I've heard that the developers who have purchased 2020 10th Avenue South intend to request a demolition permit for the historic home on the property. As a resident of 2026 10th Avenue South (4 doors down) and a block captain for the Conservation Overlay, I am vehemently against any demolition of historic homes protected by the overlay.

I fear what message a demolition would send to developers across the city. What's more, this home is the only example of this style of architecture in our neighborhood, and therefore should be preserved.

Lastly, I'm confused when a decision will be made. There's signage on the property about a meeting on 7/19 about, if I'm not mistaken, sidewalk setbacks. Yet, the information being circulated among neighbors is that the demolition request will be on the MHZC agenda on 7/18. Can you please confirm?

I've CCed my mother-in-law, Kaye Carmichael, who lives in the property at 2024 10th Ave. S.

Thank you,
Jeff

Robin,

I am writing because of my concern about a request for a demolition permit for the historic home located at 2020 10th Avenue South. I own and live at 2024 10th Avenue South in a home that also contributes to the historic character of homes in our overlay and both are architecturally significant to preserving the historical integrity of our neighborhood.

I hope the home owner at 2020 10th will be restricted to presenting a plan only to add to the rear of this home preserving the original architecture and materials as provided in our zoning overlay.

As you know, the zoning committee approved the creation of 2 lots earlier this year so that the property at 2020 10th could be sold. Both of these new lots are now smaller than the standard and average size for the neighborhood.

I am opposed to the demolition of the present home at 2020 10th Avenue and believe this request for a demolition permit should be denied. Unfortunately, I will be away from Nashville on the 18th, but hope you will express my opposition as a homeowner owning an historical home closest to the subject property.

If you need to contact me, please don't hesitate.

Kind regards,
Kaye Carmichael

Dear Robin,

I live around the corner from 2020 10th Ave S and I'm writing to object to the request to demolish the historic house currently on the property. The Planning commission has already agreed to subdivision of this lot against recommendations, but granting an exception to demolish this historic property defeats ALL purposes of having the Historic Commission overlay and sets a dangerous precedent.

I'm writing to ask that you do everything you can to help protect the historic home at 2020 10th Ave South. I drive by this beautiful home everyday. It would be so sad if it gets torn down.

The developer purchased the property knowing it was in a conservation overlay. Allowing the developer to tear down the house would set a bad precedent.

Please help to preserve this house and our neighborhood.

Robin, Tim, & Colby,

I oppose the demolition requests at 2020 and 2300 10th ave. As a neighbor that worked to implement the overlay that protects houses in Waverly Belmont/12 South, I'm angered to hear this. Greed and profit have once again come in to destroy what what we have fought to preserve.

I know the owner of 2300 10th personally, she is 5 houses up the street from us. She's been trying for at least 6 years to figure out how to put 2 houses on her undersized lot and cash out. Her claims of disadvantage are bogus in the context of tearing down a house to make more money. All her direct neighbors, who would be the most affected, oppose this, but she doesn't seem to mind. This cash-out mentality must be stopped.

The neighborhood has spoken, and the collective voice wants to protect, not tear down. Please deny these requests and send a message to home owners and profiteers that this sort of thing will NOT fly in a NCZO in Nashville.

As a side note, I'm also appalled to hear that the 2020 10th property was allowed to be subdivided. No-one that looks at that property thinks '2 houses', they think 'slightly larger yard'. It should never have happened.

Thank you,

All -

I urge you to block the request of a developer to demolish a historic home located at 2020 10th Avenue in the Historic Overlay located in 12 South.

The reason the vast majority of the neighborhood supported this overlay was to prevent developers from destroying the character of this neighborhood.

To allow this developer to tear down this home would provide a dangerous precedent in Nashville which will open up more irresponsible development within protected overlays.

Again please do not allow this to happen.

Thanks for your time.

Robin, Tim and Colby - Kerry Conley let me know of two homes on 10th Ave that have asked for an exception to our conservation overlay. I am writing to you to express my concern about allowing such variances to the overlay that this neighborhood (and me personally) fought so hard to secure. I trust you heard our voices and understand how destructive these exceptions would be. I ask that you please deny these requests and keep our overlay in tact.

I am unfortunately unable to attend the meetings in person since they are scheduled during the time I am working, but please know I will be there in spirit with the rallying cry that we must protect our neighborhood from further exploitation from developers and residents who are seeking to make some easy money and exit the neighborhood. We plan on living here a very long time and need your protection.

Subject: Protect our historic neighborhood and enforce our overlay

I am writing to express my concern that two contributing historic homes protected by the Waverly-Belmont conservation overlay are being considered for demolition. The houses in question most certainly contribute to the historic fabric of this neighborhood, and I strongly object to their demolition. Our neighborhood worked tirelessly to implement a conservation overlay, and it should be vigorously maintained.

For twenty years, I have admired the historic home located at 2020 10th Ave. South - eager to see the day it would be restored to the full potential of its historic character. And now, a developer seeks it wholesale demolition? This action is completely unacceptable. In addition, the bungalow at 2300 10th Ave. South appears to have been recently rehabilitated. Its demolition clearly falls outside the bounds of the conservation overlay's promised protections.

Our city cannot afford to lose any more of its historic properties. Nearly 700 homeowners entered into a pact with the city to prevent the destruction of historic homes in our neighborhood ... and a deal is a deal.

Protect our historic neighborhood and enforce our overlay!

Sincerely,
David and Carrie Sprouse

Subject: Deny demolition of 2020 10th Ave S and 2300 10th Ave S

Please deny the demolition of 2020 10th Ave South and 2300 10th Ave South.
Both are contributing historic homes in the Waverly Belmont Overlay.
We worked hard to get this overlay passed with an overwhelming majority of neighbors. Both of those homes should be preserved as the overlay intended. Allowing their demolition would set a bad precedent.
Sincerely,
