Engine Co. 14

The "Holly Street Fire Hall" at the corner of Holly St and 16th St was established in 1917 as the streetcar suburbs of East Nashville continued to grow and, after the fire of 1916, it was decided that further fire protection was needed in the community. The station's future was up in the air for a time, as it was in need of pricey renovations to remain functioning. Fortunately, the Lockeland Springs Neighborhood Association spearheaded an effort to restore the architecturally significant structure to its former glory.
