

A weekly selection of issues and activities relevant to local planning in Nashville and Davidson County

Issue #68
September 9, 2009

Avoiding “energy sprawl”

Wind farms, energy plants, fields of biofuel crops - all of those take up a lot of space, and renewableenergyworld.com has some suggestions on minimizing their impact on land use.

“Creating a bit of indecision” on the street

Some street lights in London’s center city are being temporarily turned off - to help drivers pay attention and be more considerate.

Measuring the green advantage

The National Green Values Calculator will show you how LID and green storm-water practices can reduce runoff on your site.
