

Issue # 208
May 22, 2012

A city where you can walk, and would want to

Copenhagen demonstrates the case for “small streets.”

More need, less service

That’s the situation in cities where budget issues are forcing transit system reductions. Pittsburgh’s the example here, but there’s a link to other cities with significant cuts.

Green variety

A selection of off-the-grid homes, as featured in several publications.

The Metro Nashville-Davidson County Planning Department publishes this weekly digest to inform members of the Planning Commission, Metro Council, Board of Zoning Appeals, and other interested parties about planning and growth issues, local and in other communities, which could apply to our city and region, with particular emphasis on appropriate development, smart growth, multimodal transportation, and other information which will help us build a sustainable future and a more livable city.

Follow us on Twitter: metronashplan
Development Tracker - online development reports