30320 - Choose How You Move - At a Glance

Mission	To connect people, neighborhoods, and opportunities safely, smartly, and seamlessly. Choose How You Move empowers Nashvillians with choice in how they travel, how they engage, and how they shape a city that moves together. We build trust through transparency, equity through access, and progress through partnership. Every improvement—from sidewalks and signals to service and safety—reflects the needs and voices of the community we serve.

Overview

Choose How You Move (CHYM), approved by 66% of voters in 2024, is Mayor O'Connell's transportation improvement program and the largest capital program in geographic scope and scale to be undertaken in Nashville's history. The $3.1 billion capital program will transform how people move around the city for decades to come.

CHYM includes installation of smart signals at nearly 600 intersections. It adds 24/7/365 transit service and builds 54 miles of high-capacity bus transit with more frequent, reliable, and accessible service. It builds 86 miles of sidewalks to ensure Nashville completes the WalkNBike Nashville priority sidewalk network and connects our busiest neighborhoods to major transit routes. The program makes safety improvements on 78 miles of local streets that are part of the Vision Zero High-Injury Network, creating safer streets for pedestrians, bicyclists, drivers, and transit users alike.

CHYM is led by a program management team in the Mayor's Office that oversees the program across multiple implementing and supporting departments, including but not limited to WeGo, Nashville Department of Transportation and Multimodal Infrastructure, Information Technology Services, Planning, Department of Law, and Metro Nashville Police Department. This centralized program management structure ensures coordinated, collaborative, efficient, and transparent delivery of the program across numerous project owners and contributors.
